Congress of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Thursday, March 1.

DETACHMENT OF MILITIA.

The House in committee of the whole, Mr. MASON in the chair, on the bill authorizing a detachment of the militia of the United States, as reported with amendments by a select committee.

The bill as amended provides—
That the president of the U. States be, and he is hereby authorized, at such times as he shall deem necessary, to require of the executives of the several states and territories, to organize arms and equip, according to law, and hold in readiness to march at a moment's warning, their respective proportions of one hundred thousand militia, officers included, to be apportioned by the president of the U. States, from the last militia returns in the department of war; and in cases where such returns have not been made, by such other rule as he may judge equitable.

Sec. 2. That the executives of the several states and territories may accept, as part of the said detachment, any corps of volunteers who shall engage to continue in service six months after they arrive at the place of rendezvous.

Sec. 3. That each company of volunteers may be composed of volunteers from one or more companies of militia, and shall be commanded by such officers from the respective companies to which they belong, as the executives of the state or territory to which he belongs, he shall, as soon as called into actual service, under authority of the U. States, be subject to the rules and articles of war; and may also be called into the service of the U. States, to any place not beyond sea, or out of the jurisdiction of the U. States.

Sec. 4. That when a return of such volunteers shall be made to the department of war, each non-commissioned officer and private shall be furnished by the U. States with a musket and other accoutrements required by law, in complete order, and each musician with a suitable instrument of music.

Sec. 5. That the said volunteers shall, once in each year, if not called into actual service, be encamped for ten days successively, for improvement in camp duty and discipline, either by regiments, battalions or companies, as the commander of brigade shall direct. And in case any non-commissioned officer, musician or private, shall fail to attend and perform his duty as aforesaid, without an excuse satisfactory to the commanding officer of his regiment, or shall so appear, without being uniformed according to orders, his arms and accoutrements or musical instrument shall revert to the United States.

Sec. 6. That for the safe keeping and security of the arms, accoutrements and instruments of music aforesaid, the commandant of each regiment be, and he is hereby authorized and required to designate some convenient place of rendezvous, at which the volunteers aforesaid shall meet, for the purpose of being instructed in camp duty and discipline, as herein before directed; and at the place so designated, there shall be an arsenal for the deposit of the said arms, accoutrements and instruments of music, under the superintendence of an armorer, to cause the said arms, accoutrements and instruments of music, to be kept in good order, ready to be delivered to the several companies of volunteers aforesaid, either to be instructed in camp duty or discipline as aforesaid, or when called into actual service. And at the expiration of the time for which such volunteers engaged to serve, they shall each be entitled to the arms, accoutrements and instruments of music aforesaid as their own private property, to be used and disposed of as they shall think proper; Provided nevertheless, That before any such volunteer shall receive the arms, accoutrements or instruments of music to which he is entitled by this act, he shall produce from the commanding officer of his regiment, a certificate that he has performed the service required by his engagement.

Sec. 7. That the president of the U. States be, and he is hereby authorized, to require of the executives of the several states and territories, to organize arms and equip, according to law, and hold in readiness to march at a moment's warning, their respective proportions of one hundred thousand militia, officers included, to be apportioned by the president of the U. States, from the last militia returns in the department of war; and in cases where such returns have not been made, by such other rule as he may judge equitable.

Sec. 8. That while marching to and from and performing duty at such encampment, the commissioned officers and musicians shall be allowed the same monthly pay, and the non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, the same rations as in the army of the U. S. and one day's march shall be estimated at twenty miles.

Sec. 9. That the detachment of militia and volunteers aforesaid shall be officered out of the present militia officers or others, at the option and discretion of the constitutional authority in the respective states and territories, the president appointing the general officers among the several states and territories, as he may deem proper.

Sec. 10. That the said detachments shall not be compelled to serve a longer time than six months after they arrive at the place of rendezvous, and that during the time of their service, they shall be entitled to the same pay, rations and allowances for clothing, as are established by law for the army of the United States.

Sec. 11. That the militia drafted as aforesaid, or who shall volunteer as a part of the detachment authorized by this act, shall be liable to do duty in the several regiments, companies and corps to which they belong, in the same manner as they would do if the aforesaid detachment had not been made, except when in service; Provided however, That in all cases where said detachment shall be called into service, or whenever such troops shall be called out for military exercise, they shall be excused from performing duty in their respective regiments and corps, during the continuance of such service.

Sec. 12. That the president of the U. States be, and he is hereby authorized, to call into the service any part or the whole of said detachment, when he shall judge that the exigencies of the U. States require it; and if a part only of said detachment shall be called into actual service, they shall be taken from such parts thereof as the president of the U. States shall deem proper.

Sec. 13. That a sum not exceeding one million of dollars be, and the same is hereby appropriated, out of any monies in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, for the pay, subsistence and support of such part of said detachment as shall be called into actual service.

Sec. 14. That this act shall continue and be in force for two years from the passing thereof, and no longer.

The bill having been read—

Mr. HUFFY conceived that the clause which provides for the apportionment of the draft according to the last returns would operate unequally, as some returns had been regularly made and others had not. Such an apportionment would require from Massachusetts one-57th part of her whole proportion, from Rhode-Island one-60th, from Connecticut one-79th, from New-York one-38th, from Delaware one-43d. This inequality was owing to the different modes of making returns. He proposed an amendment authorizing the apportionment to be made according to the number of white male inhabitants between 16 and 45 years of age, as ascertained by the last census.

Mr. ROSE opposed the amendment as operating partially towards states having black population, and therefore aggressively on the states having no black population.

Mr. TROUP replied to Mr. ROSE's remarks on the subject of black population.

Mr. VARNUM opposed the amendment, because it would operate unjustly. Those states whose numbers have not increased at all would have to contribute more than their proportion, whilst those which had rapidly increased in population would contribute just as much less than their proportion as their numbers at the last census were smaller than at present.

Mr. ROSE thought the mode proposed by the bill most advisable. Every mode would be liable to objections. One reason of the difference in the ratio of the returns of the militia was, that New-Jersey retained all the quakers as militia men, whilst other states did not. If the proposed amendment was adopted New-York would not have her proportion, as he was anxious she should have, if the bill passed as reported. If the amendment reported were not agreed to, he did not care how few were required of the state.

Mr. MARION was opposed to the amendment, because he thought the apportionment ought to be according to the returns, though so states would be more benefited by a different course than South Carolina. Policy forbade that state to lessen the number of its militia, and every man capable of militia duty was returned—and therefore the state returned a larger number in proportion to its white population than other states.

Mr. SEWARD was in favor of striking out the present mode for the purpose of substituting another though he did not precisely concur in the mode proposed.

Mr. HOLLAND spoke against the amendment.

Mr. HUFFY withdrew his amendment to make way for another motion, viz.

Mr. BIBB moved to amend the bill so as to apportion the respective quotas "according to the number of white male inhabitants between the ages of 16 and 45, to be collected from any returns in the department of war or in any other way he (the President) may judge equitable."

The question being taken on this motion it was negatived.

Mr. GARLAND objected to that part of the bill which provides that the officers shall receive pay whilst in training, whilst a similar provision was not contained as to the privates.

Mr. CLAY observed that the privates were to receive their accoutrements instead of pay.

Mr. NELSON was in favor of putting the officers and privates on the same footing. If they paid one they ought to pay both. The accoutrements would be of no use to a person but in the service of the United States, if he should be again called into service. It seemed hard that the officers who were generally men of property should be paid for their services, whilst the privates, less able to lose their time, were to receive nothing. If there was to be a distinction, he had rather the privates should be paid, and the officers should serve gratis.

Mr. GARLAND moved to amend the bill so as to provide that non-commissioned officers and privates also should receive pay whilst in training.

Mr. ROSE said he admired the zeal of the gentleman from Maryland on this occasion; but he was confident if he had examined the bill in all its bearings, he would not have made the same objection. The bill was calculated to reward both officers and soldiers. The officers being bound to furnish themselves with all accoutrements were to receive pay, but no other emolument, neither forage or rations. Officers in the army rarely draw rations, but took commutation. It was supposed that the usual pay would defray the officer's expenses while attending on duty, and that it was supposed would be enough. It was calculated to pay the officers partially with honor. No more ought to be bestowed than would secure them from loss in volunteering their services. As to the privates, it was only those who subscribed to certain engagements that were to be employed in this extra service. As an inducement they were to draw rations whilst on duty, and for pay they were to receive their arms and accoutrements at the expiration of their engagement. The gentleman from Maryland seemed to think that arms would be of no value to them. Mr. R. said, if the gentleman would reflect that by the present militia laws every citizen was bound in a penalty to furnish himself with arms, and those too of a certain description, he would deem these arms worth something. By this means for their services they would receive muskets of the kind required by law, which they might not otherwise be able to acquire. Musicians were to receive both pay and rations, because the musical instrument was not sufficiently valuable to make a donation of it to operate as an inducement to the musician to volunteer his services.

Mr. CLAY had no great objection to the amendment. But surely, he said, a set of arms, worth 10 or 15 dollars, was sufficient remuneration for ten days service in training. When called into actual service, they were to receive in every respect the same pay as regular troops.

Arrived, the brig Astrea, Catterall, 18 days from St. Bartholomews. Left, schr. William, of New York, uncertain; the pilot boat Intrepid, of do. do. A schooner belonging to Murray and Wheaton, of this city, had just arrived in a short passage from St. Augustine. The U. S. ship, Essex, from St. Augustine, called on the day before the Astrea, for 20 crew. The schooner, Ranger, Wilton, arrived at St. John, Porto Rico, on the 14th inst. On the 6th of the preceding month, fell in with the brig Angelica, supposed to be captain Putnam, master gone, and deserted. The crew, 3 of the men of the Ranger, were sent on board the Angelica to endeavor to work her into the U. States. When they boarded her, she had 5 feet 9 inches water in her hold. Passengers in the Astrea, captain Fowler, of the ship Louisa-Cecilia, from New-York for Gijon; and captain Telford, of the ship Phoenix, from N. Y. for Lisbon, both of which vessels were taken in November by two French frigates of forty-four guns from France bound to Guadaloupe.

Loss of the ships Louisa-Cecilia, and the Phoenix.

The masters of the above vessels (Captains Telford and Fowler) arrived here yesterday, in 21 days from Guadaloupe. They sailed from this port, the former for Lisbon and the latter for Gijon, early in November. Capt. Telford was captured on the 23d and Capt. Fowler on the 26th of the same month, in sight of Corvo, by four French frigates from Nantes, bound to Guadaloupe, and Capt. F. was boarded by the Clorenda frigate, commanded by Alexander St. Crique. Capt. F. was immediately taken out of the ship, and with his crew sent on board the frigate, and the Louisa Cecilia scuttled and sunk, with her cargo on board—Capt. F. was put down in the fore-peak, under 3 decks, to mess with the boatswain, and his crew, in the hold with English prisoners. He remained in this dark filthy hole till the 7th Dec. when himself and crew were put on board the Loire frigate, and there put down between decks with other prisoners, he was permitted by his pressing solicitations, to go into the gun room. On board the Clorenda, the 13 American prisoners were only allowed for their subsistence, what was given to 7 English prisoners, which was 6 ounces of meat, a pound of bread, and a pint of water per day—that while the Americans were treated with cruelty and contempt, the English, captains, mates and passengers, whom they had taken, messes most sumptuously with the French officers. The Loire and the Seine arrived at a small place to the northward of Basseterre on the 17th of Dec. where they were chased by 9 British ships of war. Here all the prisoners were landed, and marched to Basseterre, a distance of 15 miles along shore, over hills, across creeks, &c.

About a week after, the American seamen were all taken up and put in prison, but the officers were paroled. The English prisoners were allowed half a guinea a day to subsist on, while the Americans were refused a single cent; they often applied for some relief, but they applied in vain. The situation of Capt. Telford and his crew was exactly similar to that of Capt. Fowler. These gentlemen remained at Guadaloupe till the 6th inst. when got a passage to Antigua, and thence to St. Bartholomews. They left there on the 9th inst. and arrived yesterday in the brig Astrea. Their unfortunate crews were left in prison at Guadaloupe, but it is supposed they would be released by the English.

Captains T. and F. were informed by the captain of the Clorenda frigate, that the emperor had issued his orders to destroy every American vessel they met with on pain of death, and said it was his determination to go to war with the U. S. unless they declared war against England.

Orphans' Court,
Alexandria County, February Term, 1810.
Ordered, That the administrators of Jas. Bacon, deceased, do insert the following advertisement three times in each week, for four weeks in the Alexandria Daily Gazette.
Teste, ALEX. MOORE, Reg.

This is to give Notice.
That the subscribers of Alexandria county in the District of Columbia have obtained from the Orphans' Court of said county letters of administration on the personal estate of James Bacon, late of the county aforesaid merchant, deceased:—All persons having claims against the said deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof, to the subscribers, on or before the 21st day of August next, or they may by law be excluded from all benefit to said estate; and those indebted thereto are required to make immediate payment.
Given under our hands, this 21st day of February, 1810.
Elizabeth Bacon, Adm'x.
Matthew Robinson, her atty.
William Fowle, administrator.

TO THE PUBLIC.
The subscriber, after a lapse of time, has been induced in the preparation of his house, to announce to the citizens of Alexandria, as well as the community at large, that he has taken for a term of years that noted and eligible establishment known by the name of the CITY HOTEL, and once occupied by Mr. Gadaby, whose distinguished abilities as a Publican gave it an eclat which the subscriber hopes to preserve by his unremitting exertions in affording to all those who may confer on him the favor of their patronage, genteel and comfortable accommodations. The subscriber deems it unnecessary to indicate the multiplicity of conveniences attached to the City Hotel, and will only submit a description to that portion of travellers who have so generally attested its numerous advantages.

THE DISAPPOINTMENTS OF YOUTH,
A NOVEL.
By GEORGE WATTERSTON, Esq.
OF WASHINGTON CITY,
Author of the Lawyer and Child of Feeling.

The celebrity of this author's "LAWYER," and "CHILD OF FEELING" induced the publishers to engage in this work, and without detracting from the merits of the former, feel themselves justified in stating that his GLENCARN is superior to either. It is submitted without further recommendation, with a wish, that the American reviewers may give further encouragement to this young gentleman's endeavors to entertain instruct and moralize his fellow citizens, in a way seemingly well calculated to attract their attention.

To be Rented for a term of years
THAT valuable tract of Land, called Preston, situate on the Washington and Alexandria turnpike road, at the junction of four mile creek and Potomac river, and distant two miles from Alexandria, three from Washington and five from George Town. There are upon the premises a two story dwelling house, containing six rooms and a passage, with a kitchen, carriage house, stables, &c. a large, handsome and highly improved garden, of at least ten acres, in a high state of cultivation, and lately laid off by an experienced gardener, an orchard containing several hundred pear, plum, cherry and damson trees, with English walnut, quince and mulberry trees, and also upwards of six hundred apple trees, and two or three hundred peach trees, selected with care from the best nurseries, and all in full bearing. The annual average product of the apple orchard alone is estimated at 400 barrels. This tract contains about 100 acres of land, a considerable part whereof has been matured and sown with clover seed. The shores afford fish and wild fowl, and one or two good fishing landings. The situation is healthy, elevated and pleasant, in full view of three towns, and is well calculated for a place of public entertainment. Immediate possession may be had and the terms will be made known upon application to Frances Alexander.

inkerton's Collection of Voyages and Travels,
Forming a complete History of the Origin and Progress of Discovery by Sea and Land, from the most authentic Sources.
THE first number of this valuable Work is just come to hand and is ready for inspection at the store of the subscriber, in King-street, and with Mr. Triplett, at the coffee-house.

Fully aware of the impositions that have been practised upon the public by strangers soliciting subscriptions from distant places; the Editors invite their examination of a Work perhaps the most useful, entertaining as well as extensive in its kind that has ever been undertaken in any country. And they flatter themselves that the American will by no means shrink from a comparison with the London edition, tho' offered at six dollars per Vol. less.

This number may be considered as a fair specimen of the execution of the work, and will be left a short time for examination before the 2d number is put to press. After this the subscription will be raised to $2 25 each number; and but a few more copies printed than are sufficient to supply the subscribers, that the early patrons of this valuable Work may have a decided advantage—subsequent applications may therefore come too late.
It is also the intention of the Editor to annex to the last number a complete list of names of the subscribers, as the patrons and encouragers of useful knowledge, the arts and literature of the United States.
Subscriptions are received by the subscribers.

Valuable Property for Sale.
I will sell the PLANTATION known by the name of Mount Air, lying in the state of Virginia, immediately on the post road, about 9 miles from Alexandria. This farm contains upwards of seven hundred acres, the soil is well adapted for wheat, corn or tobacco—there are on the farm two houses, one of which is a commodious dwelling with a good kitchen, and the other is a two story building 32 feet square, singled and weather boarded but not finished inside, it is situated immediately on the post road, and is an excellent stand for a tavern. Mr. Edgar M'Carthy, of Cedar Grove, who resides near this property, will on application, shew it to any person desirous of purchasing.
I will also sell that valuable property known by the name of McCarty's Island, in the Potomac river, about 30 miles above George Town—this Island contains upwards of three hundred acres, the soil is equal in quality to any land in the western country, and is surpassed by none for valuable timber for house and ship building, only about 30 acres are cleared. A further description is deemed unnecessary as it is presumed that any person wanting to purchase will view it. Mr. James Middleton, who lives near this island, will shew it on application. For the above described lands a great bargain will be sold on application to the subscriber residing in George Town.
